The Judicial Council is the state-level judicial branch agency charged with developing policies for administering and improving the courts. The Georgia General Assembly created the Judicial Council in 1973; in 1978 the Council was designated an administrative arm of the Supreme Court of Georgia. The 25-member council considers requests for new judgeships and oversees the programs and initiatives of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Annual Judgeship Study. At its December, 2008 meeting, the Council voted to suspend the superior court judgeship study for one year. Therefore no new recommendations for judgeships will go forward to the 2010 General Assembly.

Information Technology. The Council endorsed Information Technology business plans drawn up for each class of court with the assistance of the Georgia Courts Automation Commission.

Municipal Court Membership. The President of the Council of Municipal Court Judges joined the Judicial Council as a permanent, voting member. Previously the president of the council held an ex-officio membership. Total number of seats on the Judicial Council now stands at twenty-five.

State Budget Issues. Concern regarding Gov. Perdue's decision to withhold state funds already appropriated to the Judicial Branch for the month of June, 2009, led the Chief Justice to convene a special June meeting of the Judicial Council to discuss the impact of further funding cuts on the courts.

Judicial Council /Administrative Office of the Courts

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) supports the work of more than 1700 Georgia judges including: superior, state, juvenile, probate, magistrate, municipal and appellate court judges. Since its creation in 1973, the agency has played a central role in improving training for judges, clerks and other court personnel, in bringing information technology resources to local courts, and in providing professional staffing for judicial branch initiatives for improving the quality of justice in our state.

Under the supervision and direction of the Judicial Council of Georgia, the AOC continues to be at the center of court system initiatives. We invite you to visit our website georgiacourts.gov, a resource for information on current AOC programs and archived reports on past initiatives.

Judicial Council Oversight Committees establish policies that guide the day-to-day work of the AOC. Agency staff schedule committee meetings as directed by the judges who chair these committees.

Committee on Court Reporting Matters:

Oversees the Board of Court Reporting which trains, certifies, and disciplines the 1,100 court reporters currently licensed to practice in the Georgia courts. In addition to individual reporters, 120 registered court reporting firms are also regulated. Client complaints against court reporters are investigated by the Board and hearings on such matters are held as necessary.

Court Interpreter Certification. As a member of the National Center for State Courts Consortium for State Court Interpreter Certification, the Georgia AOC provides training and testing for those fluent in other languages who wish to work as interpreters in courtrooms around the state. While the agency maintains a registry of certified interpreters, hiring decisions are made by local judges and/or court administrators. The Commission on Interpreters oversees these services.

Committee on Drug Courts. Oversight of Georgia's Accountability Courts is entrusted to a committee of the Judicial Council. Funds appropriated by the General Assembly are allotted by the committee as seed money for local courts launching DUI court or Drug Court initiatives. The committee promulgates guidelines for operation of these courts and evaluates their effectiveness. (See grant awards on pages 8-9.)

Judicial Workload Assessment Committee.

Chaired by the Chief Justice this committee oversees the annual judgeship study conducted by AOC staff in cooperation with the state's Superior Court Clerks. The committee continues to refine the methodology used to evaluate judicial workloads, so that accurate comparisons among circuits can be made. Supporting documentation for circuits that qualify for new judgeships is presented to the full Judicial Council for review before the Council votes on any recommendations to the General Assembly.

Emergency Management Committee. The Court Emergency Management Committee of the Judicial Council is charged with ensuring that courts are accessible during a natural disaster or public health emergency. Planning and Research helped the committee develop and publish a nationally recognized Pandemic Flu Benchbook for Georgia's judges as well as a Continuity of Operation Plan Appendix for courts to add to their existing local emergency plans. The Pandemic Flu Benchbook was updated to include recent rules and regulations published by the Division of Public Health. State Justice Institute (SJI) grant funds were used to conduct work sessions across the state to assist court officials with drafting public health emergency Continuity of Operations Plans (COOP) for their specific courts.

Administrative Office of the Courts/Judicial Council

In the face of budget reductions the AOC has streamlined staffing and pursued technology solutions for court system improvements. As the primary “shared services” agency for the Judicial Branch, the AOC promotes economies of scale in provision of fiscal services, information technology services and administrative support. The agency’s core function remains serving the judicial branch through activities such as: supporting e-filing projects, training foreign language courtroom interpreters, and encouraging minority high school students to consider court system careers.

Information Portals. The AOC is putting greater emphasis on use of technology—from scanning paper documents and reimagining our website to improved collection of trial court data. The agency now provides an “information portal” for direct reporting of local caseload data. Judicial workload reports issued by the AOC provide essential information for judges and court administrators.

Child Placement. For a child in foster care uncertainty is a given—how long will they be separated from family, how long before they move to yet another placement? The AOC has an information-sharing agreement whereby the Department of Family and Children Services makes updated child-specific case plans available to court personnel through an on-line database. Sharing appropriate information between the judicial and executive branches improves system checks and balances, improves child outcomes, and improves justice.

Domestic Violence Grants. The AOC administers state funds to assist families damaged by domestic violence. Women’s Shelters and crisis centers are eligible for grant funds to assist families with housing, employment, custody and other civil legal problems. The program assists more than 4000 individual families each year—effective help to meet the needs of Georgia citizens in crisis.

FY 2010 Grant Recipients

Amity House	$7,000
Atlanta Legal Aid, Inc.	$505,000
Gateway House, Inc.	$16,868
GA Law Center for the Homeless	$22,000
Georgia Legal Services	$1,356,828
Northeast GA Shelter Collaborative	$35,000

Judicial Liaison. Improved customer service to Probate, Magistrate and Municipal Court Judges. Customer assistance requests are now organized and tracked electronically. More than 150 requests for assistance are handled monthly by staff for these groups.

Training councils for the three largest classes of court (probate, magistrate, municipal) are assisted by AOC staff. Training records for 1250 judges are maintained in a database so that compliance with training requirements can be monitored.

Accountability Courts. Georgia judges have embraced the drug court concept of combining treatment for drug addiction and court sanctions to break the cycle of repeat criminal offenses. The forty-one separate drug courts now in operation in the state offer a less costly alternative to incarceration of offenders. More than 3,400 successful drug court graduates attest to the effectiveness of these programs. The AOC administers grant funds to the state’s drug courts and oversees standards of operation. The drug court concept continues to expand; it now includes: DUI courts (16), a child support court (1) and mental health courts (12). (See grant awards on pages 8-9.)

On-line Publications. The AOC has shifted agency publications from old media (print) to new media (website, e-documents). Court personnel can access a printer-friendly version of our brochure, Your Guide to the Georgia Courts, from our website for distribution locally. Current caseload reports for the trial courts (and archives of prior reports) are also available online. In one year we have reduced our printed pieces from 45,000 to 12,000 pieces.

Child Support Collaborative. The AOC provides an ongoing collaborative association between the judiciary and the Division of Child Support Services ("DCSS") to address child support issues. The project also supplements the work of DCSS, such as when conflicts arise in DCSS' responsibilities. During 2009, some of the highlights and the impact of this Project include:

- The Child Support Collaborative staff worked with a task force in designing and making the appropriate changes to the child support calculators which impact every child support case in the State of Georgia. The Collaborative Project hosts the child support calculators. Outreach and training efforts included re-designing a website to provide online access and understanding; chairing a statewide training that was attended by approximately 200 persons; providing instruction for approximately 300 family lawyers; specialized instruction to DCSS managers and managers of Family Law Information Centers statewide; and the training of approximately 40 superior court judges.
- Providing technical assistance and evaluation services through a contract with an outside expert to establish a pilot site and eventual roll-out locations of Child Support Problem Solving Courts during 2009. The pilot site in Carroll County had its inaugural court proceeding in January 2009, with a goal of serving approximately thirty participants at a time through this innovative court.

Access and Fairness. "Color of Justice" programs for high school students encourage minority teens to consider careers in the justice system. These programs, sponsored by the Committee on Access and Fairness, are organized by AOC staff and presented at local courts. Local judges, lawyers, and court administrators are recruited to make informal presentations to the students.

Guardianship Video and Brochure. State Justice Institute (SJI) grant funds and state appropriations secured by the AOC provided the Council of Probate Court Judges with resources needed to produce two public education videos. The video presentations provided an overview of the legal duties and general procedures in guardianship and conservatorship proceedings for minors and adults. An English and Spanish version of each production was produced. In addition, handbooks for Guardians and Conservators of adults and minors were published to serve as helpful reference materials for persons appointed by the court. These self-help pamphlets briefly explain the role of guardians and conservators and clarify the court's expectation of persons serving in each capacity. Court Services staff also arranged translation of these materials from English to Spanish.

Judicial Training. AOC staff maintained continuing judicial education records for 891 magistrate and municipal court judges. In the period which comprised FY09, 98% of these judges completed the training required by Georgia law. In order to renew their certification, a magistrate or municipal court judge must have completed 20 or 12 accredited training hours, respectively.

General Counsel. The AOC Legal Department handled contracts or agreements totaling over $6,000,000. The AOC Legal Department is primarily responsible for the drafting, negotiation and termination of all contracts and other legal agreements with the AOC and other judicial agencies including the Georgia Courts Automation Commission (GCAC), the Judicial Council Board of Court Reporting, and others.

Special Studies and Data Analysis. In FY 2009 the need arose for a special studies and data analysis position within the AOC. This staff member, working directly with the Director, performs studies determining the effectiveness of policies or adjustments to court operations and the impact on the quality of justice delivered by the court.

Special study topics included:

- Alternative Dispute Baseline Data for Time to Disposition
- Alternative Dispute Baseline Data for Revenue Projections
- Judicial Workload Assessment Committee Report
 - a. Impact of Child Support (SB 176) on the Domestic Relations Docket
 - b. Drug Court Participants Time Standards for Staffing and Court Hearings
 - c. Comparison of Style of Case with SSCIS Electronic Reports
 - d. Development of a Standard Probation Revocation Form for Case Count
- Composition of the Felony Docket
- Electronic Recordation of Proceedings in State Court
- Muscogee County Court Filing Report
- “Rent a Judge” Programs and Time to Disposition
- Staff Support to Judicial Council Records Retention Committee

Jury Reform. With staff support from the AOC, the Supreme Court Jury Composition Committee has continued to make progress toward revamping our state’s methodology for compiling jury lists. In phase one, the committee worked with key stakeholder groups to merge data elements from an assortment of databases across several state agencies. Phase two of the project calls for the development of a user-friendly desktop application capable of providing defensible jury lists to each of Georgia’s 159 counties.

Georgia Jury Source List Study

The Administrative Office of the Courts contracted with Applied Research Services, Inc. (ARS) to assess the feasibility of replacing Georgia’s balanced box juror selection system with an inclusive source list methodology. ARS conducted a comprehensive analysis of Georgia’s statewide voter registration and drivers’ license databases to produce a consolidated database that would meet the ABA inclusiveness standard (85% of adults eligible for jury service, free of duplicate records). ARS presented detailed findings for 10 Georgia counties on July 16, 2008.

Grant funding provided by Georgia Civil Justice Foundation, Georgia Bar Foundation and others financed the project.

Future work of the Jury Composition Committee includes determining an inclusivity standard for Georgia so that we have statewide data to support a defensible juror selection system that unequivocally satisfies the ABA standard and creating new software to consolidate jury source lists (Department of Drivers Services, Voter Registration, Vital Statistics, National Change of Address, and Census data) and compiling and distributing lists to counties.

Judicial Council /Administrative Office of the Courts

Technology Initiatives. The AOC provides effective technology solutions for courts and agencies throughout the state, supporting automation of courts. Local and national collaboration has lead to numerous successes in Fiscal Year 2009.

Technology Facilities / Infrastructure

The AOC manages the network and infrastructure necessary to enable communications, document management, file storage and remote access for staff as well as the administration, support and maintenance of case management solutions for 274 courts.

- VMWare – The implementation of “virtual” servers has reduced the footprint in our data center and cut significant costs related to hardware, licensing and administration.
- Quality Technology Services – A co-location site was implemented to ensure daily backups of the AOC and our courts’ information for disaster recovery/business continuity planning.

Technology Applications/Software

Increasing reliance on software applications in the courts and at the AOC has required improvements in access to data and the abilities to report, disseminate and analyze information.

- Citrix Enabled WMCIS – The Magistrate Court Information System was updated and made available to courts via Citrix (online). This improved support to fifty (50) Magistrate courts, facilitating the maintenance and versioning that was required by legislative changes and JDX projects.
- NCourt Implementation – To allow for online payments capabilities at the municipal court level, ten courts that utilize the AOC’s Traffic Information System (TIPS) were set up to accept credit card processing, improving collections at and saving personnel time.

- Citation Data Access – In a collaborative effort with the Governor’s Office of Highway Safety, the AOC developed an online query application to report citation information to thirteen (13) different entities that make up the Traffic Records Coordinating Council (TRCC).

- WinTox / COTTS – AOC consulted and implemented the server infrastructure for the Drug Courts in Georgia. The servers are housed and maintained in the AOC’s data center in Atlanta and the reporting environment is managed through Crystal Reports.

- Child Support Calculator – An enhanced EXCEL version of the Child Support Calculator was developed.

Technology Support / Training

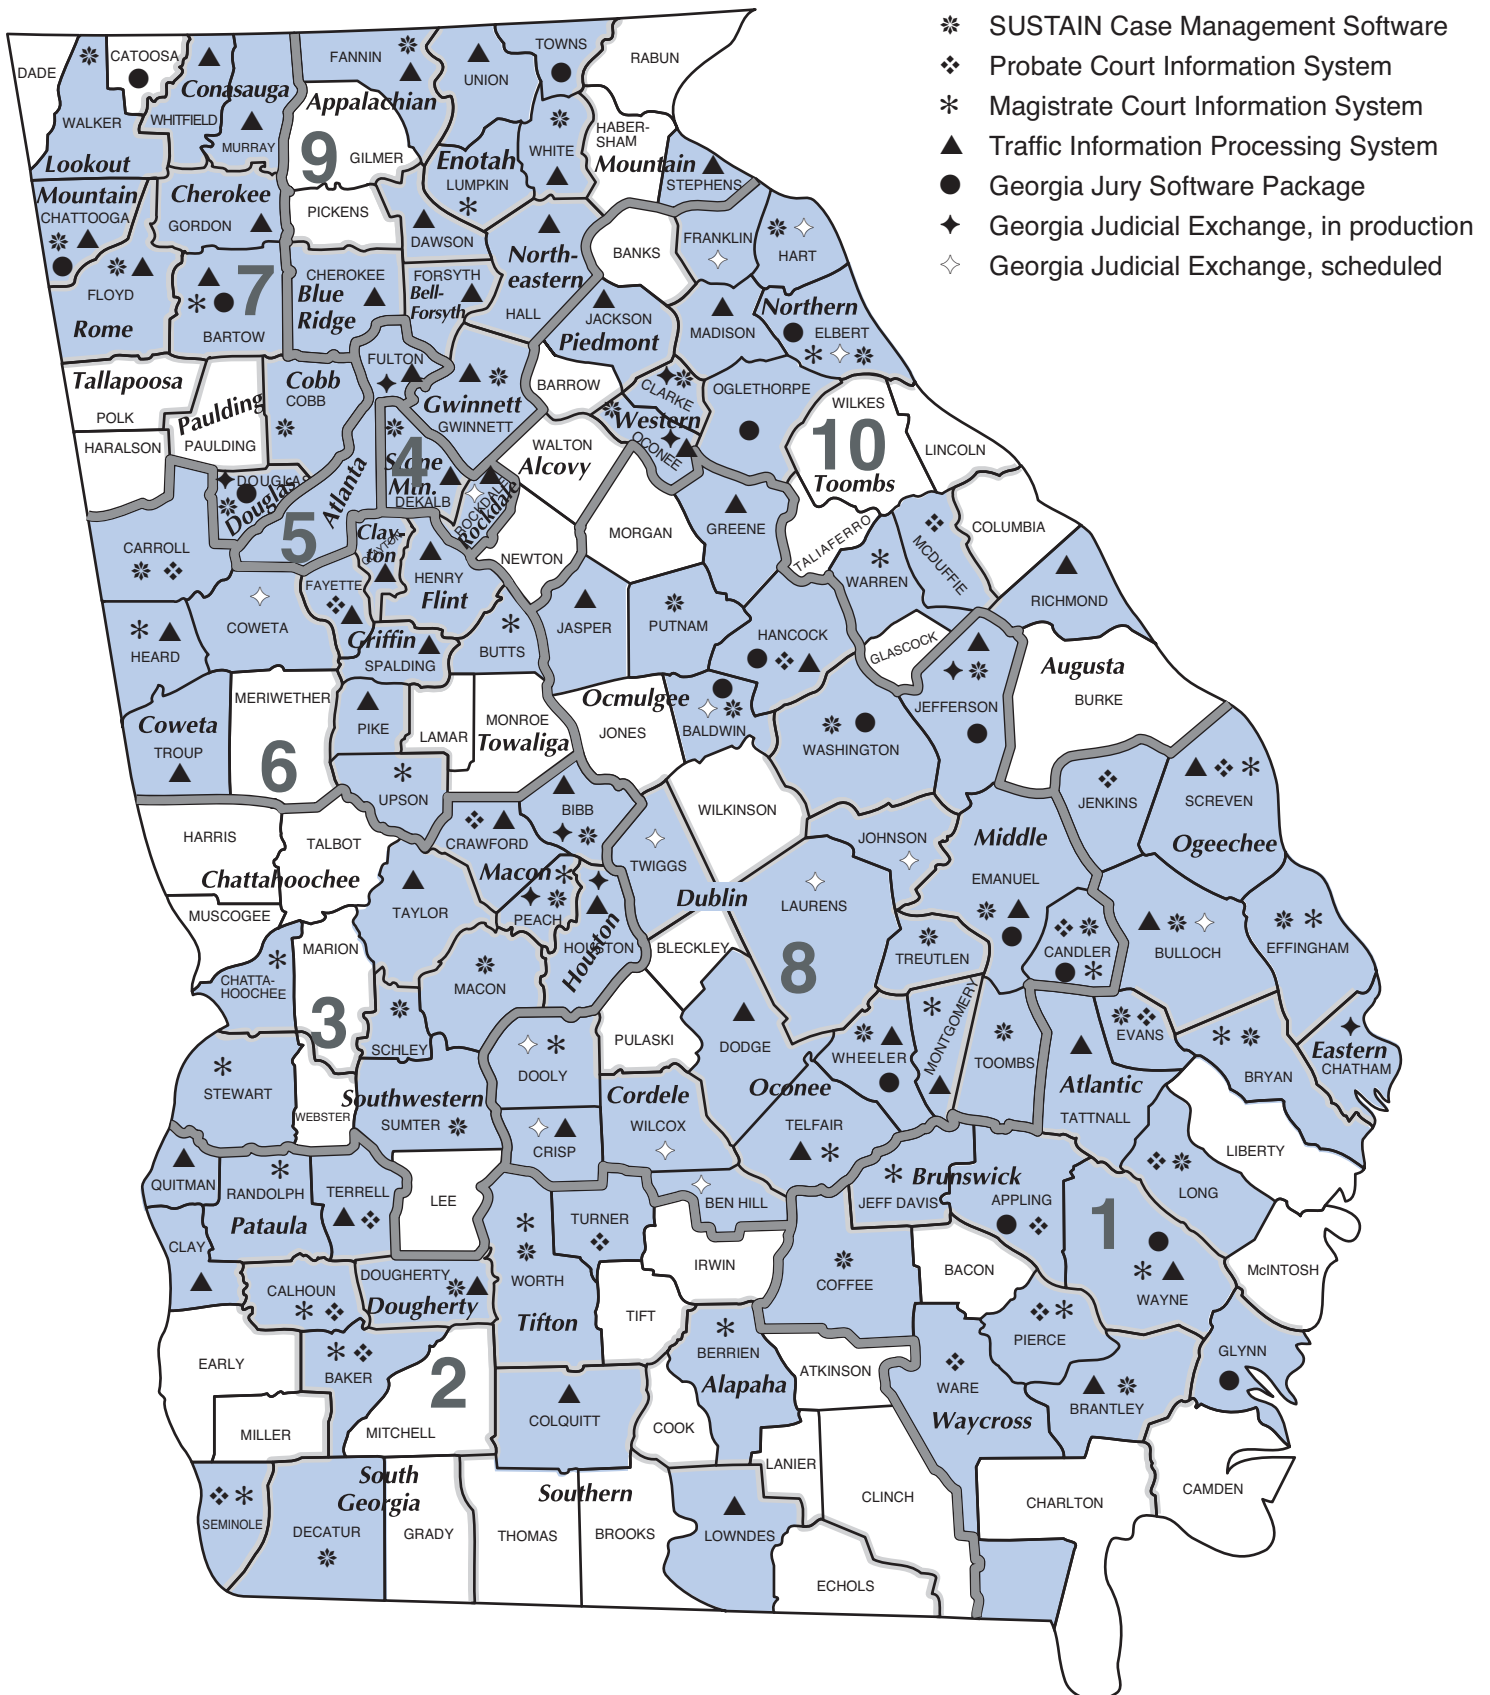

- SSCIS Certification – Collaborated with the Ga. Superior Courts Clerks Cooperative Authority to certify the transmission processes for State and Superior Courts software in compliance with Act No. 716, Ga. L. 2000, p. 850.

- Act. No. 264, Ga. L. 2007, p.554 – All AOC supported case management software was updated to comply with the additional fields required by child custody legislation. Transmissions specifications were defined and implemented to allow for reporting.

- Training – Classes for the Superior, Magistrate and Probate judges were conducted, including topics such as Microsoft Office Suite products, Web tutorials and purchasing PCs.

Appropriations to Judicial Council/AOC.

Budget reductions took a significant toll on operating budgets of the appellate courts, Judicial Council/AOC and related agencies during the 2009 session of the General Assembly. An overall reduction for the '09 continuation budget was followed by deeper cuts to the FY10 appropriations requests. No furlough days were instituted in the Judicial Branch prior to June 30, 2009; however, as state revenues continued to decline, furlough days during FY10 seemed inevitable.

The General Assembly slashed the FY10 Appropriations for the Judicial Branch as follows:

- Across the board decrease of 11% from FY08 funding levels to start of FY09
- Elimination of Sustain Case Management Maintenance Contract: $250,000 (AOC)
- Elimination of GCAC funds for facilitated IT planning sessions: $250,000
- Decreases grants to local drug court programs: $439,139
- Decreases funding for civil legal services grants: $128,078
- Eliminates funds to Georgia Law School Consortium: $176,400

Other Legislation:

- SB 199 suspended mandatory training requirements for probate and magistrate court judges for a one-year period.
- Two state court judgeships and three superior court judgeships were created.

The Supreme Court of Georgia

The Supreme Court of Georgia, the state's highest court, is composed of a Chief Justice, a Presiding Justice, and five Justices. The court's primary function is to review decisions made in a lower trial or appellate court. Cases are assigned to one of the seven justices for preparation of opinions. The draft opinion is circulated to all other justices for study; after discussion en banc the opinion is adopted or rejected by vote of the justices.

The Court of Appeals of Georgia

The Court of Appeals, made up of twelve judges, has constitutional jurisdiction over appeals from superior, state, and juvenile courts in all cases where exclusive jurisdiction is not reserved to the Supreme Court of Georgia. Each case appealed to the court is heard by a panel of three judges. The Chief Judge of the court appoints a Presiding Judge and assigns two other judges to the panels each year. If a judge of a panel dissents, the case is assigned to a larger panel for decision.

The Superior Courts

The 159 superior courts are general jurisdiction trial courts exercising both civil and criminal jurisdiction. Superior court judges hear all felony cases, as well as, divorce cases and other civil matters. Superior courts have jurisdiction to hear appeals from lower courts as provided by the Georgia Constitution.

The superior courts are organized into 49 judicial circuits made up of one or more counties. Creation of circuits and new superior court judgeships are established by act of the General Assembly.

Superior court judges are constitutional officers who are elected to four-year terms in circuit-wide nonpartisan elections. Senior superior court judges may hear cases as assigned in any circuit.

The State Courts

State courts are county courts that exercise limited jurisdiction. State court judges have criminal jurisdiction over misdemeanor offenses, felony preliminary hearings, traffic violations, application and issuance of search and arrest warrants. Civil matters not reserved exclusively to the superior courts are also adjudicated in state courts. Appeals of judgments from the magistrate courts may be returned to the state court and handled as a de novo appeal.

The General Assembly creates state courts by local legislation establishing the number of judges and their status as full-time or part-time. State court judges are elected to four-year terms in countywide, nonpartisan elections.

The Juvenile Courts

Jurisdiction of the juvenile courts extends to delinquent and unruly children under 17 years of age and deprived and neglected children under 18 years of age. Juvenile court judges have jurisdiction over minors who commit traffic violations or request consent to marry or enlist in the armed forces. Juvenile courts have concurrent jurisdiction with superior courts in child custody and child support cases and in proceedings to terminate parental rights. Certain serious violent felonies committed by juveniles may be tried in superior court. Juvenile court judges are appointed by the superior court judges of the circuit to four-year terms.

The Probate Courts

County probate courts exercise exclusive, original jurisdiction in the probate of wills, administration of estates, appointment of guardians and involuntary hospitalization of incapacitated adults and other individuals.

All probate court judges administer oaths of office and issue marriage licenses. In some counties probate judges may hold habeas corpus hearings or preside over criminal preliminary hearings. Unless a jury trial is requested, a probate court judge may also hear certain misdemeanors, traffic cases and violations of state game and fish laws in counties where there is no state court. When authorized by local statute, probate judges serve as election supervisors and make appointments to certain local public offices.

The Magistrate Courts

Magistrate court jurisdiction includes: civil claims of $15,000 or less; certain minor criminal offenses; distress warrants and dispossessory writs; county ordinance violations; deposit account fraud (bad checks); preliminary hearings; and summonses, arrest and search warrants. A chief magistrate, who may be assisted by one or more magistrates, presides over each of Georgia's 159 magistrate courts.

Most chief magistrates are elected in partisan, countywide elections to four-year terms. In some counties, the chief magistrate is appointed by the superior court judges. Terms for other magistrate judges run concurrently with that of the chief magistrate.

The Municipal Courts

Georgia's municipal courts hear traffic and ordinance violation cases in 400 towns and cities—from tiny Abbeville to suburban Avondale Estates. Municipal Court judges hear municipal ordinance violations, issue criminal warrants, conduct preliminary hearings, and sometimes have concurrent jurisdiction over shoplifting cases and cases involving possession of one ounce or less of marijuana.

Until recently, judges of the municipal courts were not represented by a voting Judicial Council member. In April, 2009 the Supreme Court issued an order increasing membership of the Council from 24 to 25 judges—giving the president of the Council of Municipal Court Judges a seat at the table.
